DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by King et al.

The above figures from the King et al., patent show a method comprising of positioning a patch across an opening of the left atrial appendage and securing the patch at one or more locations surrounding the opening of the left atrial appendage. Additionally, figure 6 shows anchors (83).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-9 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over King et al., in view of Linden et al. The King et al., patent does not expressly disclose a patch comprising of PTFE and/or Fabric. However, the use of PTFE and fabric in patches is conventional in the art as evidenced by the teachings of Linden et al. Accordingly, for a person of ordinary skill in the art, modifying the patch disclosed by King et al., with patches comprising of fabric or PTFE as taught by Linden et al., would have been considered obvious in view of the conventionality of these enhancements.

Claims 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cragg et al., in view of Schweich, Jr. et al.

The Cragg et al., patent discloses the steps of providing a first tissue engagement structure and a second tissue engagement structure each of the structure being connected to a suture, both tissue engagement structures being slidable relative to the suture, delivering the tissue engagement structures to the opening, engaging the tissue engagement structures with tissue adjacent the opening and sliding the first tissue engagement structure relative to the second tissue engagement along the suture to close the opening. The Schweich, Jr. et al., patent has been included in this rejection to further demonstrate the conventionality of delivering tissue engagement structures via catheter. Accordingly, for a person of ordinary skill in the art, modifying the Cragg et al., suturing device with the capability of catheter delivery would have been considered obvious in view of the conventionality of this enhancement.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-20 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 of U.S. Patent No.

5,961,440. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other.
